COOKING QUEEN

Cooking with my Grandma, just has to be the best.
She measures, cuts, chops and bakes
And never seems to rest.

She seems to have a way of knowing what to do.
The recipe is merely a guide
To her delicious stew.

You may think you have her beat, but if you only knew;
That grandma once trained with the finest chefs
To get her big breakthrough.

The people out in France had never ever seen
A cook so masterful as her;
She was the cooking queen.

Requests were made from palaces from there to Lulworth Cove.
Everyone was talking about the woman behind the stove.

She opened many restaurants and word of them spread quick.
Grandma loved the fame of it,
But soon became homesick.

She dreamt of her old home, where the sun shone like a light;
Where the bees buzzed and crickets chirped
And everything felt right.

So she packed up all her restaurants, and set out to return
To the family she had left behind
And show them all she learned.

I ask what grandma do you know who holds such accolades
Like "Finest Chef" and "Best Baker"
Now tell me, you've been swayed.

My grandma is the best around, by now you have no doubt.
Her cooking is just marvelous,
And you cannot live without.

Now she cooks for everyone her lovely, famous cuisine.
And people who eat her food proclaim
She is the cooking queen.

ONE WORLD

Trees surround me.
There are fresh blooms on the trees,
And the sun is high in the sky.
This is my happy place.
As I walk through the park I wonder
How nature came to be
So beautiful,
So peaceful,
So breathtaking.
Why is it that nature takes care of humans
But humans don't take care of nature?
We litter,
We pollute,
We destroy.
While nature only
Gives life,
Gives beauty,
Gives shelter.
Not just for us, but for all living things.
We must do better.
We can do better.
How many people stop to appreciate
All that nature gives to us?
Through nature
We have homes,
We have food,
We have comfort.
Is it too much to ask for us
To recycle,
To turn off lights,
To carpool
So that nature can continue to give to us
So much more than we ever give in return?
